

Man In Festo

I want to write about the persistence of life and the inherent beauty in that. How death hurts every time, no matter who or how much it helps;
how it feels violent in its inherent peace.

I wanna write about how the natural state is one of healing and growth – how that itself is love, and how that love exists and persists whether you like it or not.

I want to write about how everyone deserves that,
and do it so well that it convinces someone like me.
